EVERY DAY the prospects of Judge Williams' election grow more brilliant, and from all sections of the State we learn that the Republicans are coming up manfully to the work, and promise in no hesitating terms to do their full duty at the ballot box. So far as the canvass has progressed there has not been one single word of truth uttered by the Democratic journals which was calculated to impair the chances of our candidate. In the absence of any positive argument, some of the opposition papers have resorted to cowardly and malicious falsehoods against Judge Williams, all of which, however, have been promptly met and refuted and the masses set upon a proper train of thought. The western section of the State can be relied upon to do its share of duty, and, from present appearances, will give our candidate such a majority as cannot fail to secure his election. The campaign has opened in earnest, and the loyal people are becoming aware of the great importance which will be attached to a Union victory in Pennsylvania, and will do all in their power to accomplish that end. On Thursday evening next a grand mass meeting will be held at the Monongahela House square, and a full turnout of Republican voters is earnestly invited. Able speakers will be there, and it is expected that a good old-fashioned and enthusiastic Allegheny county meeting will be held. Let no city voter fail to be in attendance.

THAT the Internal Revenue Department, at least so far as relates to the collection of the tax on distilled and fermented liquors, is scandalously managed, is a fact of wide notoriety. The Government does not get a tenth part of the income from these articles to which it is entitled under the laws. Something like a hundred millions of dollars go into some pockets wrongfully. A large part of this stealing is done in the city of New York, and it is hard to understand how the game can go on month after month unless the Revenue officers are party or privy to it. The President alleges this immense leak as one reason for threatening to suspend Commissioner Rollins. Secretary McCulloch says Rollins is not the guilty man; but between the Secretary and Commissioner the real offenders ought to have been ferreted out long ago. The long-continued existence of these frauds is a disgrace to the Government.

THE New York Herald, which is notorious for manufacturing sensation hoaxes, pretends to have knowledge of a contemplated meeting of the loyal Governors, in view of the gravity of the national situation. Those Governors are all respectable persons, and have the same right to meet and confer, on any subject whatever, as any other equal number of citizens. The general impression is that they can safely be counted on, in any emergency of public affairs, to do all they ought or can legally, without preconcert or arrangement.

THE TELEGRAPH furnishes us with a full report of the great aquatic race between Brown and Hamill for the championship of America, which took place yesterday morning at Newburg. The aquatic sports of the country have long been far below par in the estimation of the orderly portion of the community, and the scenes of rowdyism and disorder attendant upon the recent race will not elevate the pretended champions in the public mind.

THE Democratic papers throughout the country are sending up wild cheers over their recent victory in California. They have been so unused of late to any triumph that they know not where to stop in their exultations. The victory in the Golden State can by no means be regarded as the success of any principle of the victors, but is simply attributable to the apathy and disorganization of the opposite party.

HISTORY records a good many contests between the Executive and Legislative departments of government; but not one in which the Executive has assumed larger prerogatives or manifested a more arrogant and imperious temper, than in that now progressing between the President and Congress of the United States.

—A gentleman who has just been on a bridal tour to Niagara Falls, reports that the porters of the hotels, after a most assiduous labor for a series of years, have succeeded in accomplishing, to them, a very desirable thing. They can now, almost any of them, take a heavy trunk on their shoulders, give it a twirl over the head and bring it down so that the corner will strike the tiled floor at such an angle that it will invariably burst the lock. The baggage cannot go on without a strap, and this is furnished by the accommodating porter for the modest little sum of $3, it being worth 25 cents. The Niagara Falls porters have been at work at this for many years, and it is gratifying to learn that their industry has at length been so well rewarded.

REFEREE GIVES THE RACE TO HAMILL.

BROWN'S JUDGES APPEAL.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, September 9, 1867.

The great boat race took place at Newburg this morning. Air calm; water smooth. Piers, housetops, shipping and every available point crowded with men, women and children. A little before six o'clock the stakeboat was set at a point two miles and a-half up the river, from a point off Washington Iron Works, where had been placed the judges' boat, the course thus laying for over a mile along the river front of the city.

The preliminaries were completed by the selection of Henry Munn, of New Haven, and Robert C. Elliott, of Pittsburgh, Judges on the part of Hamill, and Charles Elliott and John Crogan, of New York, in the same relation to Brown. Stephen Roberts, of New York, was previously chosen referee.

Brown and Hamill were both promptly in position, in good condition, at 6:20. The referee gave the signal to start and they went off in fine style, Hamill leading, and having the outside of the course. This position was kept for nearly a mile, when Brown gained on him and passed him, making a gap of a length or two, which, however, was kept but a short distance, when Hamill again took the lead keeping it to the stake-boat, which he reached in nineteen minutes, and where occurred a collision claimed by both to have been caused by the fault of the other.

Accounts are agreed that when Hamill came abreast the stakeboat he was about three boat lengths ahead, Brown, however, gaining upon him with lightning-like rapidity. Hamill was now making the turn of the stake boat, with Brown on the inside, and on the instant the bow of the latter's boat went crashing through the cockle shell in which the former was seated. Brown's boat struck Hamill's nearly at a right angle, driving a hole through it about a foot abaft the cockpit.

Brown quickly backed water, extricated his boat, and turning the stakeboat came on down the course, arriving at the judges' boat at 7:56, making the five miles in forty minutes and fifty-six seconds.

Hamill was taken on board the stake boat and came down to the city.

As reports spread, a scene of intense excitement ensued, and the headquarters of the referee were besieged by an immense crowd.

Hamill appeared on the balcony of the United States Hotel, and calling the attention of the people, said: "Friends: Pay over no bets; I am all right."

The judges and referee repaired to a private parlor and went into an examination of the evidence. Hamill's judges claimed the race on the plea that Brown intentionally fouled their man, while Brown's judges as vociferously claimed for a verdict, alleging that Hamill forced a collision by stopping in Brown's course.

Elliott, Judge for Brown, says Hamill was ahead. He turned first and was lying broadside to the track, apparently awaiting for Brown to come up and foul him. Brown's boat struck Hamill's five feet from the stern, on the port side.

Munn, Judge for Hamill, said Hamill was three lengths ahead. They were turning from East to West. When Hamill was turning, Brown gave some tremendous pulls which sent him into Hamill's boat before the latter could get out of the way. It was an evident foul on the part of Brown.

Other witnesses were examined, with the same result. How they saw it, seemed to depend upon whether they were Brown or Hamill men.

Mr. Roberts and the judges then proceeded to the balcony and called attention. When all was quiet, and Mr. Roberts was about to speak, a voice at his side broke in with—"Gentlemen: as a friend of Mr. Brown, I say do not give up your money, we shall appeal." (Cheers and groans were given in response.)

When silence was again obtained, Mr. Roberts made the following announcement: Gentlemen:—Having heard the testimony given by the judges on both sides, who have failed to agree, it has become my duty to decide as to the winner of the race. As Mr. Hamill was ahead when he commenced to turn the stake boat, he had, by the rules of boat racing, the right of the track. Mr. Brown should have gone outside of him. Therefore, I decide that Hamill won the race.

Loud cries of "Brown," "Brown," "Brown," "a speech from Brown," followed this announcement, but he did not respond, and the crowd quietly dispersed.

Brown's judges have put in an appeal from the decision, but to what higher authority they do not state.

New York Fashions--Madame Demorest's Opening.

A contributor to the New York Tribune—obviously a female—describes Madame Demorest's fall opening, which took place a day or two ago. We reproduce the most important points of the report:

First I note the exquisite embroidered waists in organdy, with bands, cuffs, and belts; or burthas of silk worked with purse silk and beads, as worn by the belles of Mahopac and Newport.

Dresses are plainer and not so long. The plain gored skirt without plaits is the ruling model, and home, or demi-toilette dress, has but a few inches of train. The coat sleeve is still worn, though an appendage usually falls from the elbow, giving the effect of a flowing sleeve with the comfort of a tight one. The real coat sleeve is made wider at the wrist than last year. For elaborate dress, the sharply pointed flowing sleeve short on the forearm, is usually made up. One of the best patterns in this shape is in light green, the inside sleeve about six inches long, only the outside three quarters of a yard, open from the shoulders down, trimmed on both edges with black guipure, headed by bands of flame-colored satin; the sides held together by straps of satin fastened by black rosettes, with silver buttons in the center. The lower edge of the sleeve is straight, with guipure and satin trimmings. A pretty coat sleeve has a shallow pointed cap outlined in dents of narrow satin, with tiny ornamental buttons in each point; a deep cuff rises almost to the elbow from the wide wrist, made by the same trimming; inside this is a wide, pointed slash, crossed by narrow straps held with fancy buttons. The writer is explicit in describing patterns of any description, both to do justice to the designs themselves, and to give lady readers a clear idea of what they will have to select from.

Basque waists are decidedly in favor, with short pointed lappels in front, and long ones behind. The prettiest one was a mauve, with square neck, very low in front, the basque graduated in five parts, the front pointed, the sides and back square, opened to the belt, and trimmed on all the edges with a quilling of the silk pinked at the border; flowing sleeve, with square end to suit the basque. Another waist is high in the neck, with pampadour outline of black lace, low on back and front, running so as to head the sleeve, and filled with three straps of lace insertion crossing each shoulder, an admired trimming which gives much of the grace of the pampadour open neck. The basque is short in front, having solely the effect of the double pointed corsage, which the belles are determined to have by some artifice or other, even if the fashion plates assure them that points are out of favor. The waist is of ordinary length under the arm, with three mitred tabs behind, trimmed with guipure, headed by a fold of satin, the width of a belle's eyebrow. The little coat sleeve has two rows of lace straight round the wrist, and a cap in three pieces to match the basque points behind. A pretty high-necked blue pattern has the darling tiny points before, and is scolloped and short on the hip, with rounded tabs falling four inches beside the front points, and much deeper each side of the single point that scarcely comes below the belt in the centre of the back. The trimming is narrow double rows of satin with round buttons in every scollop and dent; a row of them running down the front, three inches outside the fastening row.

Skirts are trimmed in two styles—the deep-pointed peplum, or tunic, properly, the back point almost reaching the hem, and the apron style, which describes large tabs on every breadth.

The styles for children were so pretty that the writer wanted to describe them all. The simplest (that signifies most desirable to best tastes,) were Gabrielle frocks, with a deep palatot outlined in trimming, and a little pointed cape on the shoulder. This is the favorite style of street costume, especially neat in buff leno, with black trimmings. Another pretty walking suit was plain green skirt and basque-like jacket, the only trimming to which was a fancy edge, bound in rows of black and white. The skirts are cut out in all sorts of fancy edges, with rows of different colored piping, or bias silk put round.

A bright little dress was white alpaca, with diamonds of crimson silk set around the edge of the skirt, these trimmed with narrow black velvet. A sleeveless sack of crimson silk, with a notched edge and a sharp cap, is to be worn over this dress. Another is blue, trimmed by black ribbon, with solferino edges, or piping and solferino buttons. This ribbon passes over the shoulders to the edge of the skirt, describing a tablier back and front. Between these the skirt is gathered on the hips and frilled at the hem, with a heading of the gay ribbon, graduated straps of which, finished with solferino buttons, are set on the edge inside of the tablier hem. A little buff ruffled skirt and plain waist are over-dressed with a crimson peblum which caps the sleeve, gives a boddice to relieve the buff corsage, and descends in a large scolloped point back and front on the skirt, being only half its depth on the hips.

GEN. SHERIDAN AT ST. LOUIS.

Immense Throng of Citizens.

TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION TWO MILES LONG.

Speech of Welcome by Lieut. Gov. Smith and Carl Schurz.

RESPONSE OF THE HONORED GUEST.

The Demonstration Unprecedented.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, September 9.—The demonstration to-night in honor of General Sheridan was the largest outpouring of the people ever witnessed in St. Louis. The torchlight procession was nearly two miles long, and consisted of over twenty Posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, a large number of colored organizations, representatives of the various wards of the city, the Fire Department, and an immense throng of citizens generally. The procession was nearly an hour filing past the Southern Hotel, on the east balcony of which General Sheridan, his staff officers, members of various committees, and invited guests, were stationed.

The crowd at and in the vicinity of the hotel, after the procession had passed, must have numbered ten thousand, and the number that thronged the streets on the line of march could not have been less than from twenty to thirty thousand.

After the enthusiasm of the crowd had somewhat subsided, Lieutenant Governor Smith delivered a short, but very cordial welcome to the General, on behalf of the State, which was followed by a very eloquent address by General Carl Schurz, in which he referred to Gen. Sheridan as the model American soldier, the hero of many hard fought fields, the representative of American chivalry, the statesman as well as soldier, to whom the people of Louisiana and Texas will hereafter look with gratitude and esteem, as the man who opened the way to permanent peace and prosperity.

General Sheridan then stepped forward and replied as follows: I presume you all know I never make speeches. I regret exceedingly that I am not able to make you one to night; but this very kind welcome has been unexpected by me entirely, and I can only return my sincere thanks for your enthusiastic and kind welcome.

A few remarks were afterwards made by Gen. Pile, and the crowd gradually dispersed.

In point of numbers, enthusiasm and general warm and hearty sympathy, many of the oldest citizens say the demonstration has never been equalled in St. Louis. From eleven to one o'clock to-day the General received visitors at the hotel, and the crowd of callers was almost incessant. The General will leave for Leavenworth to-morrow afternoon.

FUNDS IN THE TREASURY.

The amount of gold in the Treasury to-day is $92,754,216, and coin certificates $14,879,700. Total, $107,533,916. Amount of currency, $18,903,000. The Secretary of the Treasury has to-day removed the injunction on the caveat from one hundred and ninety-four of Missouri State bonds, twelve of North Carolina bonds and two of Tennessee bonds, some years ago abstracted from the Department of the Interior.

PARDON STATISTICS.

It is ascertained, from official data, that since April 15th, 1865, about eight thousand pardons have been granted by the President. These include some of the rebel foreign minister, agents, members of the Confederate Cabinet, Governors of Southern States, and upwards of ninety Brigadier Generals, with a due proportion of rebel Major Generals. Major Stilt, Chief of the Pardon Bureau, of the Attorney General's Office, has had on file, for the past two years, about four hundred applications for pardons from persons who were engaged in the rebellion, and not pardoned by the proclamation of May 29th, 1865. By the proclamation of Saturday, about one hundred of these persons are pardoned, but the other three hundred come within the exceptions, and of course their cases, like others similarly situated, must be separately considered.

California Election Results—State Admission Anniversary—Gold and Iron From Oregon—Indian Outrages—Mining Shares, &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, September 9.—Partial returns from thirty-nine counties give Haight nearly eight thousand majority. It is thought the majority of the general Democratic ticket will be about two thousand less. The returns of the full vote of the interior are insufficient for the purposes of comparison.

The anniversary of the admission of California was celebrated to-day with considerable spirit by a procession of pioneers, an oration, poem and banquet.

The State Fair has opened at Sacramento, and promises to be the best for several years.

The steamer Oriflamme, from Portland on the 6th, brings one hundred thousand dollars from the northern mines, and fifty tons of Oregon pig iron, the first invoice of iron from the new works in that State.

An expedition is fitting out to punish thieving Indians. Umatilla soldiers, under Lieutenant Force, had a battle with the Snakes lately at Brunt river, killing or capturing a considerable party, with the loss of four soldiers killed and nine wounded.

Reports of Indian outrages in Oregon, Washington and Idaho mining regions are frequent. Col Coppinger had several brushes with the Owyhee Indians in the middle of August, killing twenty or thirty in all.

Rich placer mines are reported discovered at Pendoreilla lake.

Mining shares are open and weak; leading descriptions show a further decline. An assessment of twenty-five dollars per share was levied on Gould and Curry.

Wheat $1,80@1,85. Legal Tenders, 70@71.

Arrived: Schooner Alandager, from Alaska waters, with ninety two thousand codfish, the largest catch of the season.

IMPORTANT CASE AT WARREN, PA.

Conviction for Secreting Goods to Defraud Creditors.

HEAVY FINES AND IMPRISONMENT IMPOSED.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

TITUSVILLE, PA., Sept. 9.—The Herald of this city says: Myers Marks, M. S. Marks, H. J. Marks and Jacobs were to-day convicted at Warren, Pa., and received heavy fines and imprisonment, for secreting the goods of M. Marks for the purpose of defrauding H. B. Claflin & Co. and other New York creditors of M. Marks. The case was a highly important one, witnesses being in attendance from New Orleans and California. Numerous parties were interested in the result of the suit in different parts of the country.

THE NEWS FROM MAINE.

The State Goes Republican by a Slightly Reduced Majority.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PORTLAND, September 9.—The following returns of the elections have been received:

Portland	3,025	1,311
Lewiston	777	394
Bangor	1,305	1,053
Gardiner	499	270
Pittston	216	282
Scarborough	114	223
Bath	760	185
Falmouth	175	170
Cape Elizabeth	318	312
Brunswick	416	306
Paris	263	302
Gorham	321	220

Sixteen towns give Chamberlain (Republican) 8,389 and Pillsbury (Democrat) 5,622, being a majority of 2,450 for Chamberlain. The same towns last year gave Chamberlain a majority of 5,819, showing a Democratic gain this year of 3,369.

There is a Republican loss in Bath of 27.

Biddeford gives a Democratic majority of 240 against 90 last year.

LATER.—One hundred and nine towns give Chamberlain 27,716, and Pillsbury 18,873. The same towns last year gave Chamberlain 31,050 and Pillsbury 16,365. Chamberlain's majority this year is 6,022, against 15,085 in the same towns last year, making a Republican loss of 9,063.

The aggregate vote in these towns is 46,398, against 48,215 last year.

The total vote of the State last year was 111,584. This year it will fall a little under 100,000.

Three-sevenths of the State is in, with a loss of nine-fifteenths of the majority of last year. The same ratio will reduce the Republican majority to about 13,500, or a loss of about 1,400.

The Democrats will gain Representatives in some towns, but not enough to give them much power in the Legislature.

TERRIBLE BOILER EXPLOSION.

Engineer and Fireman Killed, and Workmen Injured—Residence Damaged and Two Children and a Nurse Killed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, September 9.—A terrific boiler explosion occurred this evening in the turning mill of Abram R. Welch, Twenty-eighth street. The room was much shattered, the engineer, Jacob Madden, and fireman, Edward Brady, were killed, and Matthew Beir, Frank Case, Jeremiah Cassiday, and John Jung, workmen, were badly injured. The boiler traversed four hundred and thirty feet, falling into the residence of Sigismund Hauseman, tore out the entire rear of the house, killing two of Hauseman's children and a nurse named Maria Dowling. Another servant, Mary Wilberzahl, received severe injuries.

Love and Larceny—The Gushing Fullness of an Indiana Lover's Joy, Followed by the Indignant Swelling of an Indiana Girl's Honest Bosom, Lead to the Detection of a Series of Heavy Thefts.

Within the past year the Chicago and Great Eastern Railroad Company have allowed and paid claims for goods 'short' to the amount of thirty thousand dollars, or more, and the thieves have until recently eluded the utmost vigilance of the officers and detectives of the road. A little love affair, however, very innocent and praiseworthy in itself, incidentally furnished a clue which, carefully followed up, laid bare the camp of the enemy and cut short their supplies. A section boss had become smitten with the charms of a lady residing at one of the stations on the road, and made her acquaintance, which ripened into an offer of marriage, which was accepted, and a propitious time was awaited for its consummation.

After some necessary delay, he wrote to her from Richmond, Indiana, saying the looked for time had arrived, and for her to come to Richmond and they would wed. She complied, and the section boss, in the gushing fullness of his joy and confidence, advised her of his means and plans. He had, as he informed her, a considerable sum of money in hand, and also a small stock of goods, which would enable him to become the owner of a house and lot, and then "love in a cottage" was there.

In answer to her inquiries in regard to the merchandise, he very frankly told her that he had taken it from the railroad cars on his train, and that there was a big chance ahead for more, as he had the arrangements all made and in good working order. The bride elect did not relish the revelation as well as he had anticipated, and her honest bosom swelled with indignation at the idea of uniting her destinies with a railroad thief, and she took time to think the matter over, and returned to her home. After a little reflection, she concluded this was too big a load to carry, and upon a full consultation with a relative, made a clean breast of the facts.

—A young German girl recently eloped from New Jersey with a gallant Teuton youth and $600 of her mother's money. The police found the loving but unwedded couple the other day, just on the point of sailing for Europe, all was made pleasant by a marriage in the police court, the parental blessing and a return home.

Strange Developments—Suicide.

For several months it has been evident, from the number of robberies committed in Elizabeth township, and the manner in which the work has been done, that there was a regularly organized band of thieves in that neighborhood; but all efforts to detect them have been fruitless. Several parties are strongly suspicioned, but no evidence sufficient to warrant their arrest can be obtained. On Saturday, the seventh instant, some remarkably strange developments were made, which have a very close connection with the many robberies that have been committed, the facts of which we obtain from a private letter, written by a resident of the township. A party of men, while fishing, discovered a large quantity of harness, over three hundred dollars' worth, in the Youghiogheny river, near Elrod's Ferry, which had been taken from different farmers in the neighborhood, during the last three months. On the same day a large quantity of goods was found on the bank of the river, which were identified as a part of those stolen from the store of C. A. Lucas, of Buena Vista, some three months since. The writer of the letter says: "It is evident from the place in which the articles were found that they were placed there to be discovered." What would lead a man, or a set of men, to run the risk of going to the Penitentiary for a number of years, by committing a robbery, and then to place the goods so as to insure their discovery, we are unable to see; but such appears to have been the case. From the same letter we learn the particulars of a very strange case of suicide, which are as follows:

Friday, August 30th, Andly Rankin, a boy about fifteen years of age, left his home, near Elrod's Ferry, where he resided, with his parents. Not returning that night, his parents became uneasy on account of his absence, and search was instituted for him, when, about noon on Saturday, his body was found in the barn of David Rankin, suspended by the neck with rope attached to a beam, quite dead, and had apparently been hanging for several hours. The boy, when he left home, was in perfect health, and had never evinced any signs of insanity, nor are there any reasons known why he should have committed suicide. The whole affair is enveloped in a mystery which all are unable to solve.

The Philadelphia Press on the Tack-O'Connor Affair.

The petroleum trade of this city and of Pittsburgh has been a good deal exercised of late with reference to a series of suits pending in the Courts between James O'Connor, of Pittsburgh, and Tack & Bro. of this city. The first process was issued by O'Connor while the latter gentlemen were in New York, the information alleging that the Tacks were "fugitives from justice." On the day of the publication of the arrest a meeting of the petroleum trade of this city was held, at which were present all the principal refiners and dealers in oil in this market, when the gentlemen present adopted a resolution that they believed it improbable that the Messrs. Tack could be guilty of any dishonorable transactions, basing their conviction on their long acquaintance with these gentlemen as men of worth and high commercial standing. We have been at some pains to ascertain the facts of the case, and we find that no proceedings whatever were instituted by O'Connor against Aug. H. and Theo. E. Tack, in Philadelphia; that Mr. Theo. Tack had announced his departure to Europe, which fact was published in a Pittsburgh paper, and that it was while in New York, not as "fugitives from justice," but while about making arrangements for a departure to Europe, that the order of arrest was sprung upon the Tacks, they not having received any prior intimation of anything of the kind. On a hearing before Judge Barnard they were discharged, the charges not having been sustained. On the same day O'Conner had them re-arrested on another charge—viz: that of conspiracy—the statement being that Tack & Bros. defrauded the plaintiff out of $30,000. As to this, we learn that O'Conner sold, through the Tacks, solely as commission merchants, quantities of oil for future delivery. These sales were always to the order of O'Conner, to whose judgment as to the rise or fall of prices they, of course, yielded. The whole thing is viewed by the trade as a means to coerce a compromise on losing contracts. The Messrs. Tack have since instituted suit against O'Conner for false imprisonment, alleging damages to the amount of $50,000. Tack & Bro. have stood in the front rank of the petroleum trade of Pennsylvania ever since petroleum became an article of our commerce, and up to this time their honor and integrity have always stood unimpeached.

The Sculling Match.

The great sculling match between James Hamill, of this city, and Walter Brown, of Portland, Maine, for the championship of the United States and a purse of four thousand dollars, came off yesterday morning between six and seven o'clock, on the Hudson River, at Newburg, New York. No boat race in this country has created one half the interest and excitement in this city as this one, and from the telegraphic reports the excitement was evidently greater at Newburg. As soon after the race was over as the telegraph wires could carry the news, it was here and immediately spread on the bulletin boards of the different offices, which attracted the eager crowd to such an extent that Fifth street was literally "packed" with men and boys, to the great detriment and inconvenience of all persons whose business required them to pass through it, and so the excitement continued until evening. Throughout the day nothing could be heard on the street, but the one all absorbing topic, the boat race. It is over, and the public are about as wise as to which is the best oarsman as though it had never taken place. Since the excitement has subsided all agree that it was quite as unsatisfactory and disgraceful as any that has ever taken place on American waters, and the conclusion generally arrived at is, that it was Hamill's turn to win.

This is probably the last contest that will take place between Hamill and Brown, and for the peace and quietness of the public generally, and the sporting fraternity in particular, we earnestly hope it may be, as it seems impossible to have a fair test of speed between them.

Remember the Widows and Orphans.

The organization known as the Grand Army of the Republic, composed of survivors of the army of the Union, have published an appeal to the public to aid them in providing for needy widows and orphans of those of their companions who fell in subduing the rebellion. This appeal has been published in the Gazette, and we trust it will be generously responded to in this pre-eminently loyal and patriotic community. Let us not, in our peaceful prosperity, forget those who fought and died for our country when its life was so greatly endangered. We may remember them gratefully praise their deeds of valor; but more than this is requisite, in payment of our debt of gratitude. Their wives and little ones are among us, and they must not be allowed to suffer.

That Sagacious Dog.

The city newspapers of Monday "went up" on the reported drowning of a boy off the Birmingham Bridge, on Sunday forenoon, all containing more or less graphic accounts of the casualty. One, however, carried off the palm for "sensation." The story was that a boy had fallen from the high pier of the bridge, and that his dog, which had been with him, sprang after him into the river. Out of this material the reporter of the sheet referred to wrote about the wonderful sagacity of the said dog, attributing to the canine hero the credit of seizing his young master by the hair, as he rose to the surface of the water, and of making a desperate effort to save him from a watery grave, which was well nigh successful. Unfortunately for the "sagacious" story, the facts will not bear it out. The truth, pure and simple, is that on Sunday forenoon somebody threw a dog from the bridge into the river, and whatever else has been reported about the affair is imaginary.

Thrown from a Buggy.

A young lady residing on Penn street, in the Fourth ward, met with a painful accident last evening between four and five o'clock. She, in company with another lady and gentleman, was taking a drive in a light open buggy, and when passing down Seventh street at the corner of Smithfield, one of the horses frightened, and suddenly sprang to one side, throwing the lady out of the buggy with such force as to dislocate her shoulder blade. She was picked up in an insensible condition and carried into a house at the corner referred to, where by the application of the proper remedies she was soon restored to consciousness. She was then placed in a carriage and conveyed to her home, and a surgeon summoned, who attended to her injuries, which fortunately are not of a serious character.

Assaulted and "Battered."

Joseph Hartly and William Irwin are residents of Penn street, in the Ninth ward, and it appears had a difficulty on Sunday evening, which terminated in a fight. We did not assertain the cause of the difficulty, but suppose it was the late boat race, as it has been the only topic of conversation for the last few days. The fight resulted in Hartly being knocked out of time on the first round by a blow from Irwin's right hand, fairly planted in the mouth. Hartly claimed a "foul" and appealed to Alderman Taylor who issued a warrant for Irwin's arrest on a charge of assault and battery.

Pittsburgh Methodist Conference.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., Sep. 9th, 1867.

On Saturday the Conference finished the examinations of official character, and received and acted on several reports. Such is the size of the body, and the variety of interests consulted, that these reports are necessarily numerous. Their final presentation, and action thereon, will extend into Monday's sessions.

That on "Pastoral Relations" is yet in the rough. Its completion requires the concurrence of pastors and churches, who, under the new discipline, have the power to contract the pastoral relations. The prominent churches in and around Pittsburgh are not likely to change their pastors. The Wylie street will probably lose its late able incumbent, Rev. J. B. Graham, by his request.

On Sabbath the Uniontown churches were supplied from the Conference. Drs. Scott and Reagan supplied the Cumberland Presbyterian, Rev. J. Cowl and Rev. Clark that of the Old School Presbyterian, and the venerable Dr. Brown that of the Methodist, after whose sermon three were ordained to the work of the Ministry. The pulpits of the M. E. Church, African M. E. and Baptist were also supplied.

In the afternoon the Conference Missionary Society held its anniversary in the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, Rev. R. Rose, Corresponding Secretary of the Parent Society, Rev. Dr. Ragan, of Steubenville, Ohio, and Rev. Dr. Collier, of Sharpsburg, were the speakers. They acquitted themselves with great credit, and the money result was decidedly a success. Considering that this Conference is a part of a younger branch of the Methodist family, in numbers, zeal and ability, it need not blush to compare its record with its older and wealthier neighbors. Its non-Episcopal and reformatory positions commend it to all lovers of "a church without a bishop," as well as "a State without a King."

The Conference will possibly close its sessions to-day. Its final acts will be given your readers hereafter. VISITOR.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES ON SABBATH.

The pulpits of all the churches in this place and surrounding towns and villages were filled by the Ministers of the Conference, and it was a day of much religious interest in the community.

In the morning Dr. Brown preached in the Methodist Protestant Church the ordination sermon, after which the candidates for Elders' orders were ordained by the President, assisted by Rev. Dr. Ragan and Rev. Mr. Knight. Rev. Z. Ragan, formerly Chaplain in the U. S. Army, delivered an effective missionary address in the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in the afternoon, and preached one of his philosophical and practical sermons, greatly to the edification of a crowded audience. Dr. Ragan has lost none of his vigor and efficiency as a public speaker.

Dr. Brown is now in his 76th year, and still possesses the mental vigor of his youthful days. His sermon was one of great power and eloquence. The Rev. John Scott, D.D., delivered a very fine and instructive sermon to the congregation in the Cumberland Presbyterian church in the morning, and Rev. Herr in the evening. We had not the pleasure of hearing these gentlemen, but from their high reputation as able Ministers, we have no doubt their labors were profitable. Dr. Cowl preached in the Presbyterian Church in the morning, and Rev. A. Clark, A. M., in the evening. Dr. Cowl delivered a most correct and eloquent discourse, and was highly appreciated by his audience. What shall we say in regard to the sermon delivered by Mr. Clark in the evening! Well, it was one of Alex. Clark's fine, beautiful, instructive, impressive, and successful efforts. All were highly delighted, and we trust greatly profited. He has but few equals in the West as a pulpit orator, and as a successful pastor, no superior. Dr. Collier preached in the morning in the M. E. Church. We have heard his sermon spoken of in terms of the highest commendation. The Dr. is one of the able ministers of the Conference.

The Conference is well attended by the citizens, and we think is making a good impression upon this community. The weather continues pleasant, and all are enjoying themselves finely. A few started for home this morning, but there are still about forty ministers and nearly an equal number of laymen present.

Sewing Machine Awards.

GOLD MEDAL.

Wheeler & Wilson, New York: Sewing Machine, Button-hole Machine. Next come thirteen awards of silver medals to various companies; then twenty-two awards of bronze medals, and twenty honorable mentions.

"Gold Medal, E. Howe, Jr., Promoter of the Sewing Machine."

This last award had no reference to the Howe Company, which stood as low as No. 7 on the jury's list of merits (the Florence stood No. 9, Weed No. 8, A. B. Howe No. 22, Empire No. 28,) and had not the slightest chance for the gold medal. It was awarded to Mr. Howe personally. So state Baron Seguier, President, and M. d'Aligny, reporter and member of the jury of that class. The French do not even admit Mr. Howe to be the inventor of the sewing machine, but claim this honor for M. Thimonier, a Frenchman, who manufactured and sold several hundreds of sewing machines as early as 1830. They simply style Mr. Howe promoter of the sewing machine.—Ledger.

Amusements.

THE OPERA HOUSE.—Miss Thompson commenced the second week of her engagement at the Opera House last night. "Fanchon, the Cricket," was presented, and it is universally conceded that Maggie Mitchell, who excels in this piece, will find a worthy competitor for the honors she has so long enjoyed in Miss Thompson. The cast of characters throughout the piece was good, and Miss Thompson being well supported, as a consequence the rendering of the play was unexceptionable. The house was filled with a fashionable and appreciative audience, who were unanimous in their praise of the universal favorite.

VARIETIES THEATRE.—Night after night is the Varieties Theatre crowded from box to gallery with the fun-loving, joke-appreciating, laugh-enjoying parties of the community, to witness the novelties nightly produced there. Every night brings something new at Trimble's, and the people have discovered it. This establishment is conducted with a spirit of liberality on the part of the managers which will insure its success.

Beaver Ladies Seminary,

Which opens its first term next week under the direction of Rev. D. H. A. McLean, formerly of this city, and lately connected with Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., has just been provided with a magnificent square grand Decker piano, selected from the rooms of C. Mellor, the sole agent in this city for the Deckers. It is of magnificent tone and workmanship, and its external finish is so chaste and beautiful that it would be an ornament in any parlor or drawing room in the land. The pupils at the Seminary have reason to be grateful to Dr. McLean for putting at their service so superior a piano. It is gratifying to hear of the success of the Decker Pianos in our city—a success well merited, and sure to increase. Our best musicians prefer them to all others, and they are fast becoming the popular piano amongst our most musical families—so rapid is the sale of them, that Mr. Mellor can scarcely keep an assortment of them on hand.

Larceny.

Henry Bruce, of McKee's Rocks, came before Alderman Donaldson, yesterday, and made information against Thomas Aiken and John Weaver, charging them with larceny. It appears that Bruce is a gardner, and yesterday morning at an early hour had gathered a load of mellons, tomatoes, etc., for the purpose of attending market. He left his wagon for a short time, preparatory to leaving home, when, as he alleges, Aiken and Weaver carried off a number of mellons, several baskets of tomatoes, and other vegetables. A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of officers Smith and Sarber, who arrested the accused and brought them before the Alderman, who held them in the sum of five hundred dollars each for their appearance on Wednesday for a hearing.

Assault and Battery.

John Scott made information before Alderman Mullin, of Allegheny, yesterday, against William Steel, charging him with assault and battery. The parties are employed at Graff's Shovel Factory, Allegheny, and it appears quarreled about some trifling matter, when Steel struck the prosecutor in the face with his fist. The matter was settled by the defendant paying the costs.

John Kerr appeared before the same magistrate at the same time, and made information against J. Bonner for assault and battery, who he alleges struck him and knocked him down on Federal street, on the 5th inst. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Bonner.

City Councils—Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the Select branch of the City Councils was called Monday evening, Septembeer 9th, for the purpose of taking definite action in relation to the paving of Wood street with the Nicolson pavement.

Members present: Messrs. Armstrong, Coffin, Crawford, Gallaher, McCarthy, McMillan, Morrow, White, McAuley, President.

As it requires eleven members to constitute a quorum, and there being but nine present, no business was transacted.

Surety of the Peace.—Albert Satter and Fred. Beckman, residents of the Ninth ward had a quarrel yesterday, during which Beckman threatened to whip Satter. This being a grave offence, Satter appeared before Alderman Taylor and made information against Beckman for surety of the peace. A warrant was issued, Beckman arrested and held for a hearing. The better way to settle cases of this kind would be to fine the parties equally and divide the costs between them.

Held for Court.—James Miller was arrested on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Daniel M'Govern, before Alderman Strain, and after a hearing was held in the sum of five hundred dollars for his appearance at Court. The parties reside in Lawrenceville, and it appears had a quarrel, which finally came to blows, when M'Govern was knocked down and badly beaten.

Temperance Meeting.—The Allegheny Temperance League meets this evening in the Reformed Presbyterian (Rev. J. McMillan's) Church. Addresses will be made by William Little, Esq., and the Rev. John McMillan. The popular choir of the League will be present.

Thrown from a Horse.—About eight o'clock last evening, Miss Helen Bradley, daughter of Samuel Bradley, of Robinson street, Allegheny, was thrown from a horse while riding near Perrysville, and severely injured. She fell with her head against a stone from which she recieved a severe cut about two inches in length across the top of the head. She was placed in a carriage and conveyed to her home. Doctors Walter and Hazlep were summoned and attended to her injuries, which, though severe and painful, are not considered of a dangerous character.

Personal.—Mr. C. A. Yancey, the business manager of the National Reform Educational Association, of New Albany, Ind., is now in this city, in company with Capt. O. S. Wall, of the Freedmen's Bureau. These gentlemen, we understand, will remain two or three days with us, for the purpose of making known the present condition of the Association, and to form an auxiliary among the public spirited colored citizens of Pittsburgh. Their credentials and references are of the very highest character, and we wish them success in our community.

—A few days ago, in Annapolis, Md., a little girl, aged about nine years, in company with her brother, aged about five years, and a colored child, about six years, were playing together, when it was proposed to play doctor. The little girl acting doctor put her two patients in bed, and going to a drawer, which was usually locked, but happened then to be open, she procured a pill box, in which there were two opium pills, containing each a grain and a-half, and one quinine pill. She gave to her brother one opium pill, and to the colored child the opium and quinine pills, which they both docilely took. It was discovered about an hour afterward, and the doctor, in reality, called in and administered emetics, which produced the desired effect, and the little ones were soon out of danger.

—The members of the Chicago Typographical Union have lately purchased a plat of ground at Rose Hill Cemetery for burial purposes. The plat is centrally located, large, and when laid out will correspond in beauty and taste of design with the most attractive in the Cemetery. The resident members of the Union have entered into the matter with their accustomed zeal, and the completion of the work will reflect the utmost credit upon the proverbial generosity of the Chicago printers. It is the design of the craft to erect a suitable monument as soon as the necessary funds can be raised.

—A London letter contains the following: "I mentioned long ago that the American Legation in this city has been transferred to one small room in a common lodging-house in one of the most disreputable streets of the West End. It is there still, and the last time I called there the door was opened to me by a dirty woman, with an equally dirty baby in her arms, which was actually engaged in extracting nourishment from the paternal fount. I am told that this is not an uncommon occurrence."

—In Augusta, Ga., on Sunday afternoon, a negro boy followed his father, who went into a neighbor's house for the purpose of procuring some matches. The little boy drank a portion of this, which fact, however, was not discovered for some time after. He suffered intensely during the night, and was released from all pain in the morning.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1867.

THE AMNESTY PROCLAMATION.

If the States which participated in the rebellion had been reorganized as prescribed by the laws; if their respective delegations had been re-admitted to seats in the two Houses of Congress; and if their several populations, in word and deed, were exhibiting a restored loyalty; a Proclamation of Amnesty, broad as that issued by the President on Saturday last, would have been received with unmixed satisfaction by the great body of the inhabitants of all sections of the country. Nay, an Universal Amnesty would not have proved unacceptable. The President has not only confronted and defied the will of the nation, as expressed in the laws, but has exercised a vast authority, his right to which is challenged, and is at best doubtful. And this Amnesty he has questionably proclaimed, is not the consummation and fruit of a restored Union, but a means to fresh agitations, which may postpone that event.

If it was conceded on all hands that the powers of Amnesty and Pardon are identical, and belong to the President, he would still be open to the imputation of grossly misusing or abusing the trust confided to him, in what he has done. If he can legally proclaim Amnesty now, he could have proclaimed it the day after Antietam or Gettysburg, and in terms including all the officers and men of LEE's army. The abuse of power in an Amnesty issued then and now, is simply comparative.

As early as 1862 Congress assumed control over the whole matter of Amnesty, by passing a law authorizing the President to proclaim it, but fixing the conditions. Last winter a bill was passed to repeal this law; which bill was neither approved nor vetoed by the President, but became a law by not being returned to the House in which it originated within ten days after its passage. The Constitutional power granted to the President is to "grant reprieves and pardons." The President and his advisers hold that Amnesty is one form of Pardon. Congress holds that Amnesty is a greater power than Pardon; hence not included in it, and can be exercised only by the "sovereign power," which is not the President, but the representatives of the States and the people.

The President's Proclamation, even if he had an undisputed right to issue it, would be a flagrant misuse of power. It is not in the interest of loyalty; nor designed to promote concord. The intention of it was in a bold and questionable way to frustrate the Congressional plan of reconstruction, by prematurely restoring most of the active and influential men among the rebels to the political rights and privileges they forfeited under the operation of the laws. The effect will be to let the rebels sit measurably in judgment in their own cases; to exert a degree of potentiality in determining whether the Congressional plan of restoration shall stand or be swept away. It puts them on the same footing as the men who fought the battles of the country, even while the questions growing out of the war are still pending. It is a direct defiance to Congress and to the loyal constituencies represented therein.

The President may be hasty, passionate and unstable; but there are about him, and in his confidence, inspiring him with their ideas, and shaping him to their ends, a number of men of superior capacity and culture. These men believe that all the government did in putting down the rebellion was done in virtue of authority found outside the Constitution and in the national emergency. If they make any distinction between the loyal and disloyal, it is to exculpate the rebels and heap unstinted censure on those who combatted them. Their most ardent wish is to banish from power the men who saved the government, and to install the leaders of the rebellion in the vacated seats. Having the President under their influence, they mean, while despising him, to make the most out of him they can.

So far Congress has shown much less tact, energy, decision and courage than these men. When the Houses should have acted, they were content to consume weeks and months in talk to no substantial end. Many of the leaders thereof permitted themselves to be duped into half measures or no measures at all, appearing not to comprehend the forces with which they were dealing, nor the malignant drift the Executive was imparting to public affairs. What was easy for Congress to do before, is more difficult now; but we trust that enlightened by experience the period for faltering has gone.

GERMANY.

Whatever dispute there may be as to the possession by NAPOLEON III. of the intellectual qualities essential to high statesmanship, nobody doubts his having, in a large degree, the lesser endowments which constitute the natural outfit of a politician. Self-confident, unscrupulous, skillful in the concealment of his opinions and purposes, ready to adapt himself to all contingencies, and adroit in making the best that can possibly be made as matters stand, he is always a central figure in European politics; an object of interest, if not of solicitude.

Baffled in the negotiations with BISMARCK which preceded the campaign of Prussia against Austria, and constrained to accept, with an appearance of placidity, accomplished facts most unpalatable to himself and France, he has ever since been contriving how to prevent the farther and complete unification of Germany, which would be an event disastrous to his dynasty as well as to the predominance of France in the affairs of continental Europe.

In his recent interview with FRANCIS JOSEPH they two hatched a nice arrangement, which had only the one inconvenience that it would not work as contemplated. This was to group the South-German States around Austria. There was no novelty in this conception. It was incorporated into the treaty of peace which terminated the recent Germanic war. When it was first brought forward, France accepted it because it held a word of promise to the ear accordant with its desires. Austria welcomed it because she saw in it a hope—the bare possibility of an accomplishment partially favorable to her hereditary pretensions. Prussia concurred because peace had become a necessary condition for retaining what she had won by battle, and because, as she measured the strength of the popular sentiment demanding national consolidation, it was apparent the project could never be reduced to a reality.

The interview between the French and Austrian Emperors sent a thrill of anxiety throughout Europe. The first impression seemed to be that the princes and people of the South-German States could not resist the determination of these two men. The event has proved otherwise. Even the interposition of France in the affairs of Germany was promptly regarded as an offense; and hence none of the States have ratified the fresh attempt to divide and distract Germany.

Moreover, there seems to be abundant reasons for believing that a large majority of the people of Austria, while feeling a genuine attachment to the reigning family and a strong desire that it should recover and hold the headship of Germany, are animated by an intense desire that the solidarity of the German people shall be achieved, no matter under what leadership. There are indications that a martial alliance between FRANCIS JOSEPH and NAPOLEON to divide Germany—to keep it from fulfilling its aspirations—would result in the bulk of the Austrian people ranging themselves openly on the side of Prussia.

What was to be anticipated under such circumstances has actually happened; the fresh negotiations to realize a South-German Confederacy have taken such a shape that the French Minister of Foreign Affairs has addressed notes to the Prussian government with which it is satisfied. Finding he cannot do what he would, NAPOLEON has made up his mind, like any common mortal, to do the best he can under the circumstances.

Still, there seems to be no diminution in French warlike preparations. There can be no doubt as to what is signified by the unwonted activity witnessed in arsenals, depots and encampments. French vanity has been deeply touched by Germany; not by invasion, or menace, or disparagement; but by the marvellous development of nationality. Germany seems to stand between France and the sun, and this is not to be endured. France has dominated Europe most of the time for half a century. She formally proclaimed the abrogation of the German empire, and wiped it from the maps. Yet that empire, without her leave, claims the right to be. From the ashes in which it was entombed it has arisen into new life and startling conspicuity. Its freshly acquired greatness throws France into the shade. There are portents of still grander elevation, even to the constituting of it the colossal power of Europe. It is not enough for France to be powerful. She is so great that nothing contents her but to be supreme. She can hold fellowship with no equal. What this morbid sentiment may lead her to the future only can disclose.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

Fall Seeding Grass Lands.

The system of fall seeding to grass is beginning to be practiced in some localities and with the best results. The system to which we refer is the sowing of grass seeds separately or not in connection of grain of any kind.

The usual practice is to seed with some crop under the impression that the grain not only serves a good purpose in protecting the growing plants, but that the land in this way is made to yield an annual crop which would not obtain if nothing but grass seed alone were sown. When grass seed is sown with spring grains there is a liability of its not taking well, and we frequently get a light crop of grass the following year. This, it is claimed, can be avoided by fall sowings.

The land is plowed in August or September and a top dressing of well rotted manure or compost applied, the land thoroughly harrowed and fitted for meadow. The grass seed is then sowed and covered with a bush or light harrow and the soil rolled. The September rains bring up the seeds and it gets well rooted before the setting in of frost. The next season, about the latter part of July, a good crop of hay is taken off. Thus nothing is lost except the fall feed, and on land requiring plowing this is of little value. The rotting sod and the compost added, make a deep tilth which will yield several good crops, and when these begin to fail the land is treated in the same way again.

There is great difference of opinion as to the best way of keeping up meadows, and in seeding them down. Upon stock farms many contend that no crop pays so well as grass, and that when the land needs breaking up the sooner it can be got back into grass the better. In other words, permanent pastures and meadows are sought, and no attention paid to a regular rotation of crops. When such a system prevails, the usual or common practice is to break up, putting the land the first year to corn. The second year spring grains are sown, and the land seeded to grass at the same time. It is evident under this system, unless considerable quantities of manures be used, the land must be somewhat exhausted of its fertility. The grain crops have robbed it, and it goes back to grass less able to yield a maximum crop than when first broken up. The plan indicated of seeding in the fall, it will be seen, economizes all the elements of fertility stored up in the soil for the grass crop, and as experience has shown, gives larger returns in grass at a less expense of manures than by the other method. By it you get a continuous crop of grass year after year, which is often of much account when the lands devoted to meadow are limited, and when any material reduction of the hay crop is attended with the inconvenience either of reducing the ordinary stock or the purchase of hay or its equivalent in the other kinds of cattle food.

These considerations have led many farmers to change from the common system of seeding to this, and after testing it thoroughly, believe it is an important improvement over the old practice.

They urge, in addition, that there is more leisure in August and September for getting the ground into nice condition for meadows, and that there is less liability of having the work imperfectly done on account of the weather than there is in the spring, when often haste is necessitated in order to get crops into the ground in season, while not unfrequently, the soil must be worked when too wet, leaving the surface in a poor condition for the seed bed.

It is a good custom to roll all lands in in the spring that were seeded the previous autumn. This presses into the soil many roots that are thrown up and would otherwise perish, and leaves the surface in good condition for the scythe and rake.

Maturing Poultry.

Wheat screenings and cracked corn, I find to be the best adapted feed for chickens; this should be fed to them as often as twice a day; while in the interim something should be placed at their pleasure to pick at. I dissent from the idea that fowls should ever go hungry in order to grow fat or to lay eggs. I have never learned how to fatten or bring fowls into a parturient condition by feeding little or nothing. Broom-corn seed, well ripened, affords my fowls a constant supply of wholesome and cheap provender, for lunch, between their regular feedings of screenings or corn; and I find my corn and buckwheat, etc., do not disappear so quickly by voraciousness as where they have to rely wholly on stated feedings.

Good authorities have laid down one rule among many good ones, which I appeal from to the good sense of my brother poulterers, so far, at least, as it regards growing chickens, that is: "Never keep feed before them all the time." Working on the system of human physiology, this sounds very well; but an infant receives its sustenance when it cries for it; I believe our infant chickens being able to help themselves, without crying for it, should be permitted to do so. Boiled feed, such as potatoes and meal, with small or large pieces of meat, as can be afforded, hasten the growth of poultry very much; use as much pepper, and a little more than would be pleasing to our palates as seasoning; but it is almost useless to say to any one, use no salt. Farmers who make their own butter, and have sour milk, should remember to divide a part of this refuse material with the hens, for, while pigs make the ham, we cannot have ham and eggs without the hens.

There certainly is a great difference in fowls about maturing, and without stating any particular preference on this article, I will remark, that for early market uses, the Asiatic varieties are the best. Yellow meated poultry, on account of its rich appearance, always brings the highest price in market; and the reverse of this is the case, in many markets, with eggs. In the case of the meat, the only difference is in the imagination; while, in the case of eggs, imagination is greatly at fault in making choice of white shelled eggs, for the yellow shell is a mark of greater nutriment as really yellow corn contains more oil than the white flint variety.—Correspondence Country Gentleman.

The Tobacco Fly or Miller.

A tobacco planter relates the following experience and success in the destruction of that pest to the crop—the moth-mother of the tobacco worm:

Having, like all other tobacco planters, suffered for years by the ravages of this destructive and annoying insect, I proceeded to watch its movements and ascertain its habits. I found it intensely fond of sucking at the bloom of the Jamestown, more generally speaking the "Jimson" weed, wild morning glory, &c., but especially the former. Accordingly, at the time of setting out the plants, I set out among them some eight or ten "Jimson" plants, which, like the other evil weeds, grew up and bloomed just in time for the objects of this cuss of an insect. I procured from a druggist about an ounce of pulverized fly powder, or fly stone, mixed it with water, making it very sweet with honey, (sugar or molasses will do as well,) put it in a half pint bottle with a cork stopper, into which I inserted a goose quill. Thus armed and equipped, I went every evening between sunset and twilight and dropped about three drops of the mixture into the bloom of the "Jimson," and the next day would pick up handfulls of the insects lying dead under the nearest trees, or in the corn field close to the tobacco patch.

So eminent was my success in destroying them that many of my neighbors were induced to try the experiment, and the consequence is that the crops in our neighborhood are much less injured by them than usual. The poison destroys that particular bloom as well as the fly. Seeing this, I go every evening and drop it into the new ones which form in the next twenty-four hours. If every planter would follow this practice, that particular race of destructive insects would soon become extinct.

My crop this year has so far been protected by this process as scarcely to show that such an insect existed at all, and if no hail storm or other accident overtakes it before cutting and housing, it will be entirely free from injury of any kind.

All the trouble I have had with it is destroying the eggs laid by flies from other places, as they are known to fly as far as a mile, and to fly about and deposit their eggs all night of moonlight nights.

This process of getting rid of so great an injury to this most important crop, being within the reach of every one, it will be universally practiced, I hope thus enabling a planter not only to raise as much again, but better, and escape that most tiresome and back-breaking process of worming tobacco.

Growing Sugar Beets.

From experiments made in Belgium, it appears that the planting of sugar beets upon ridges induces a better growth of the plant, with less interruption on account of the leaves than by flat culture. The advantages claimed for this system of planting are, that in stony soil it mellows a larger amount of fertile matter, while in light soils the moisture is absorbed in greater quantities, enabling the roots to go deeper into the sub-soil. It is claimed, also, that the culture in ridges require less manure than on a flat surface, more ground being required to contribute nutriment to the plants. That they may be cultivated with more ease, and with a greater economy of labor, upon ridges, we have found in our experience, since the plow or horse-hoe may be used earlier along the rows, thus reducing hand-weeding in the space along the line of the rows. A further advantage of ridge planting claimed is that the plants grow longer and send their roots deeper, thus suffering less from disease, heat and rain. In addition, the roots yield a larger per centage of sugar and starch.

We regard the beet as one of the most profitable roots that can be grown for stock feeding. The labor of cultivation is much less than for the carrot, and the crop is less liable to be attacked by insects and thereby lost, than the turnip. They are more easily harvested than carrots, and are of more nutritive value than turnips. The mangolds are excellent keepers, which is an additional argument in their favor. Whether the beet may be grown profitably for sugar-making, in this State, is a question which is yet to be solved.

Autumn Planting for Asparagus.

The Gardener's Monthly recommends autumn planting for asparagus, stating that actual experience shows it to be not only feasible, but better than spring planting. The ground is prepared as for the crop at any other season, and after cutting off the green tops of the young seedlings, the roots are set precisely as in spring planting. They push new roots at once and make eyes so strong that even from one year old seedlings some asparagus—but not, of course, very strong—has been cut the following spring; and when two years old roots have been used, a full crop has been cut in the same time—a result no one expects from spring planting.

The editor remarks that within the last two years he has watched experiments made by several gentlemen, on planting asparagus in August, and the result is a remarkable success.

Budding the Rose.

A writer in the American Journal of Horticulture adopts a plan in budding roses which greatly expedites the work, and is attended with complete success. Instead of either bast or worsted common adhesive plaster is substituted. In this method no tying is necessary, the plaster adhering at once exactly where it is required. The plaster used is the common adhesive plaster bought at the shops, and the writer states that by its use the budding is performed with great neatness and exactness as well as rapidity. This would seem to be an improvement over the old practice, and may prove a useful hint to those who cultivate roses.

ARE YOU BILIOUS?

Multitudes of both sexes will answer this question in the affirmative; for, next to disorders of the stomach, liver complaints are perhaps the most prevalent of all internal diseases. Its usual symptoms are a yellowish tinge in the whites of the eyes, especially near the inner corners, an uneasy or slightly painful sensation in the right side, pain between the shoulder blades, sick headache, lassitude, mental dullness, lack of appetite and irregularity of the bowels. Whoever recognizes this diagnosis as applying to his own condition, may be quite certain that more bile exists in his blood and less passes through his bowels than is expedient for his health, and that his liver requires toning and regulating. One of the special uses of

is to meet just such exigencies as this. Its tonic principle rouses the liver from its torpor, and its aperient element gently relieves the intestinal canal of the accretions consequent upon an insufficient supply of nature's cathartic, the bile. Persons of bilious habit will find it the best safeguard against the attacks to which they are constitutionally predisposed, and should carefully avoid all the ordinary alcoholic stimulants.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which had been advised to "let alone" on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten on my lungs. I knew that the popular mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to a discharge which I was constrained to believe was a salutary provision of Nature to get rid of some morbid condition in the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying to the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, C——.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC!

A FEW AVARICIOUS AND UNPRINCIPLED FLOUR DEALERS in and around Pittsburgh, are now purchasing second-hand sacks, with our brand upon them, filling them with an inferior quality, and selling it as our Flour. Finding it difficult to procure the quantity of second-hand sacks, they are trying to get the sack maker here to make and print a lot for them.

To prevent this fraud, we are now pasting our sacks, and sealing them with a printed label, with name of firm and date of manufacture.

As we keep a register of the Flour made each day, and the kind of Wheat ground, we are at all times enabled to know the quality of Flour made.

LOOK OUT FOR SHORT WEIGHTS!

Some of the dealers who are filling the sacks, are putting up short weights, in some cases equal to twenty pounds per barrel, making fully one dollar per barrel loss to the consumer.

A REWARD OF $50.00

Will be paid for information that will lead to the detection and conviction of any person engaged in this fraudulent business.

AUCTION SALES.

JACK'S RUN LOTS AT AUCTION.—There will be sold on the premises, on THURSDAY, Sept. 12th, at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the 10 o'clock train from Allegheny, 80 BUILDING LOTS at Jack's Run, within ten minutes walk of the station. Some front on Jack's Run, and some on the Brighton road. They vary in size from 50 by 150 feet to an acre and a half. On one lot is erected a frame dwelling house of five rooms. COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS.

Before Hon. Edwin H. Stowe.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE.

Commonwealth vs. Thomas Thompson: two indictments for aggravated assault and battery, on oath of David Hutchinson and his wife, Margaret Hutchinson.

Mrs. Hutchinson testified that about the middle of March last, on the cinder walk opposite her residence, on Stevenson street, in the Eighth ward, the defendant struck her with a club four or five feet long, on the head and shoulders. She screamed murder and called to her husband, who was sitting in the house at the time. Her husband went out, and when he returned he had his left hand and his head bandaged.

Cross-examined—Defendant had dropped a load of coal on the side walk; there was some conversation, and witness closed the door to prevent her husband hearing what was passing; the conversation was about the defendant going on the cinder path; witness told him to go off, that she did not want any fuss or trouble; Mr. Hutchinson did not know defendant was there. Witness could not recollect distinctly what occurred up to the time she was struck; defendant raised the stick, saying he was not going to be trifled with by a woman; the first blow the witness "juked."

Mrs. Norman, residing a few doors away, testified that Mrs. Hutchinson requested Thompson to please not drive his horses on the sidewalk, when Thompson took a stick from behind the horses and struck her first on the shoulder and then on the head; the stick was about as thick as a hatchet handle, thicker than the counsel's (Mr. Marshall's) wrist. About a quarter of an hour after witness saw a difficulty between Thompson and Mr. Hutchinson; they met in the street, when Hutchinson asked Thompson why he did not strike him (Hutchinson) instead of his wife; Thompson said he would as soon have a woman's life as a man's; Thompson then, with the stick he had used on Mrs. Hutchinson, struck Mr. Hutchinson on the hand and on the head.

Mr. Hutchinson testified that his wife came into the house bleeding, and learning what had occurred he went out after Thompson; saw him on the street talking to Mr. Magee; I said to him, "Do you know, you murdering villain, that you nearly killed my wife?" he said, "yes, and I'll kill you, too;" he then struck witness on the hand, breaking the bones, and next on the head, knocking him down; witness said he took the stick to be a pick handle.

Cross-examined—This occurred about eight o'clock on a Saturday morning; never saw the defendant in my life before; did not know that he was a driver for Hageman & Snyder; knew there was some person hauling coal, and had some words with a driver; told him he ought not to drive on the sidewalk, and he g—d—d me, called me a "nigger," and came at me with a whip.

C. Magee, Esq., testified to what he saw of what took place between Hutchinson and Thompson, on Saturday, March 23d. Mrs. Hutchinson came up Stevenson street along the cinder walk; her face was bleeding, and looked as if she had been struck a severe blow on the head; Thompson said he had struck her and would do it again, and his speech and conduct shocked witness, and seeing Hutchinson approaching, witness advised Thompson to go away, fearing there would be trouble. Hutchinson came up and asked Thompson why he had struck his wife; did not see a blow struck, but presently saw Hutchinson's left hand bleeding; Hutchinson then got a stone and threw it; Thompson then struck him on the head.

This closed the testimony for the prosecution.

For the defense it was claimed that the defendant did nothing more than repel force by force—that he was attacked with brick bats and was in danger. He might have gone too far in defending himself, and in striking a woman.

David Townsend, colored, testified that he with Thompson was delivering coal to a Mr. Owens on the morning of the fuss between Hutchinson and Thompson; saw Mrs. Hutchinson throwing stones and brickbats at Thompson, while he was leading his horse and walking along the cinder path; she threw three or four stones, which Thompson "juked," and after while he struck her; she then ran into the house and told Mr. Hutchinson, who came out and went after Thompson, coming up with his fists doubled; Mr. Hutchinson asked why he struck his wife; Thompson said he was not going to stand and have his brains knocked out by anybody without defending himself; Hutchinson went towards Thompson, when he (Thompson) struck him with the "dump stick" of the cart.

Cross-examined—Saw Thompson strike Mrs. Hutchinson one right on the top of the head. When Hutchinson came up and spoke to Thompson, Thompson said "I'm the man who struck your wife, and I'll strike you if you don't stand back." Hutchinson called him a "G—— d—— son of a b——;" Thompson struck Hutchinson on the hand and on the head; did not see Hutchinson strike Thompson, but he made great efforts to do so; was standing about ten steps off.

Hon. Thomas Mellon testified that he was acquainted with Thompson, the defendant; had known him between two and a half and three years; his character is that of a quiet, industrious and peaceable man.

Thomas A. Mellon testified that he had known defendant for about three years; his character for peace was good.

David Steen had known Thompson for about five years; had been in witness' employ; his character for peace was remarkably good.

General Collier addressed the jury for the defense, and Mr. Marshall followed for the prosecution—the former arguing that the testimony of the colored man Townsend relieved the case to a great extent of the aggravation which appeared from the evidence of the prosecution. The jury could not believe that Thompson used the violence he did without some provocation. Mr. Marshall thought it fortunate the defendant had to deal with Mr. Hutchinson. Another man might have taken his life for using such violence upon a woman.

The jury found a verdict of guilty on both indictments, after deliberating a couple of hours. Sentence deferred.

DOMESTIC CASES.

Michael O'Cowdy was tried for an assault and battery upon his wife, but the jury, from the circumstances elicited, believed the wife was equally guilty with her husband, and that mutual indulgence in strong drink was the cause of their troubles. The husband, it seems, came home in the afternoon considerably intoxicated, and desired his wife to get him something to eat, which she refused to do, telling he might get his "grub" at the tavern where he got his "rye." A row followed, in which the wife was hurt considerably, and the husband had his shirt very much torn. Verdict of not guilty, defendant to pay the costs.

Alfred Benoit was tried for an assault and battery on his wife Veronika. The couple resided somewhere in the Eighth ward, and the wife testified that one night in July last, five days after her confinement, her husband struck and abused her and turned her into the street with her child. The jury convicted.

LARCENY CASES.

Jerry Dillage was tried for the larceny of a table cloth valued at two dollars and a half, from the house of Frederick Kauff, some time during last month. The article was missed, and soon after being taken was found in the possession of the prisoner, who was moving off rapidly, as if endeavoring to get out of the way as soon as possible. At the magistrate's office he confessed his guilt and said he entered Kauff's house to get something to eat. Verdict of guilty. Sentenced to jail for ten days.

George Waters was tried for the larceny of a pocket box, valued at one dollar and a-half, the property of Robert Mitchell. It was shown that the prosecutor, Mitchell, was lying asleep on some barrels on Canal street, on the night of the fourth of July; he had been lying there for a couple of hours; the prisoner Walters was discovered by a policeman leaning over Mitchell; the policeman supposed the man lying down was drunk and that the one leaning over him was endeavoring to take him away; the policeman stepped up and asked Walters what he was doing; "nothing," said Walters; the prostrate man, Mitchell, was wakened up, and his pockets were discovered to be turned inside out; he was asked if he had lost anything; he said, after examining, that his pocket book, money and a handkerchief were gone; Walters was taken into custody, and lodged in the tombs, but none of the property alleged to have been stolen was found in his possession; subsequently the pocket book, containing only some papers, was found in the street where the policeman had been standing with Walters in custody. Under this state of facts, Wm. Haines, Esq., assigned as counsel for the defense, contended the guilt of Walters was by no means certain; it was possible that he had but casually stopped to look at the drunken man, and that some one else had committed the robbery. The jury had a "reasonable doubt" and acquitted. Judge Stowe, however, although thinking the verdict of the jury perfectly proper, from the fact that certain instruments (burglars') were found in his possession, regarded the prisoner as a dangerous man, and required him to give bail in the sum of $1,000 to keep the peace for one year. In default he was remanded to prison.

CASE OF BURGLARY.

Edward W. Porter plead guilty to an indictment for burglary, in entering the house of Amos Stiff, No. 32 Roberts street, on the night of the 3d of July last, and taking therefrom seventy cents in fractional currency and a penknife. Sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

Special Meeting of Lawrenceville Council.

A special meeting of the Council of the Borough of Lawrenceville was held Friday evening. Members present—Messrs. Anderson, Hart, Meanor, Sill, Scott, Weisenberger, and Burgess Buffum.

The Burgess stated that the object of this special meeting was the consideration of an ordinance for grading, paving and curbing of certain streets, viz: St. Mary's avenue, from the Pittsburgh and Greensburg turnpike road to Keilar's alley; Leech street, from Reed to Sycamore street; Charlotte street, from Allen to Wainwright street; Spring alley, from Sycamore to Leech street. The ordinance was passed.

Mr. Anderson offered a resolution naming the alley running from St. Mary's avenue to Chestnut street, parallel with the turnpike, Keilar's alley. Adopted.

Mr. Anderson offered the following, which was passed:

Resolved, That the Street Committee be instructed to properly prepare the gutters on Chestnut street so that they will be fit to carry the water off said street before winter. Also, to cinder or gravel one sidewalk from Butler to Pike street.

The clerk, in obedience to a call, read the "Ordinance to prevent dogs and hogs from running at large." The ordinance was not considered efficiently effective, and a Committee was appointed to amend the same.

On motion of Mr. Scott the Borough Regulator was added to the Committee on widening Main street.

The Burgess stated that the Managers of the State Fair desired the improvement of John Street, near the entrance to the Fair grounds.

Mr. Anderson said the State Fair came here to make money, and if they wanted any improvements of the kind mentioned, they could make them at their own expense.

The Burgess said all the Fair Managers wanted was permission to make the improvement.

Mr. Anderson moved that the managers of the State Fair have permission to grade John street in the neighborhood of the upper entrance to the grounds, provided they do it at their own expense. Carried.

Mr. Hart stated that a citizen of the borough had been proceeded against by the Turnpike Company for avoiding the toll-gate, by passing along Lafayette street, one of the thoroughfares of this borough. No action was taken in the matter.

A warrant was ordered to be drawn for the payment of the salary of Mr. Ford for one month's services as night watchman—$60.

Mr. Hart proposed to give to the borough the use of a lot upon which he holds a lease for five years, for the purpose of constructing thereon a lock-up. The proposition was accepted.

Witnesses Committed.—Patrick Coyle, Michael Welsh and Patrick Corne, witnesses for the Commonwealth in a certain case of Richard Adams, having refused to obey a subpoena, were brought into the Criminal Court yesterday on attachments, fined ten dollars, and committed until the case is brought up for trial.

Larceny as Bailee.—Annie Chalfant made information before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, against Mary Sullivan, charging her with larceny as bailee. It appears that on or about the the first of August, Mrs. Chalfant and her husband parted, and Mrs. Chalfant having a quantity of household goods, consisting of, beds, bedding, carpets, &c. left them in care of Mary Sullivan until such time as she could get an opportunity to remove them. Calling for the goods a few days since, she found the defendant had appropriated them, having the carpets on the floor, and the bedding also in use. She refused to give up the property. Hence the prosecution. Warrant issued.

Deserted His Wife.—Silas B. Olney about two years since took to himself a wife, with whom he lived for over a year, at the end of which time a child was born. Shortly after this occurrence Silas left his wife and child, and entirely abandoned their support. India, the wife, yesterday morning appeared before Alderman Strain and made information against Silas, charging him with deserting and abandoning the support of his wife and child. He was arrested, and after a hearing committed for Court.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, September 9, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 143⅝; Eighty-one bonds, 111⅝; Five Twenties, 1862, 113⅞; Five Twenties, 1864 109¾; Five Twenties, 1865, 110⅞; 5-20 Consols, 108⅛; Seven Thirties, 107; Ten Forties, 99⅝. Stocks—Erie Railroad, 68½; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 88; Chicago and Rock Island, 104; Chicago and Northwestern, 45½; Chicago and Northwestern preferred, 69⅞; Fort Wayne Railroad, 105⅝; Michigan Southern Railroad, 81⅝; New York Central, 105⅝; Reading, 102¼; Western Union Telegraph Co., 42⅝; Ohio and Mississippi Certificates, 27⅛. Mining shares—Corydon, 1,25; Gregory, 6,60; Quartz Hill, 1,65; Smith & Paramalee, 5,50; Quicksilver, 27⅝. Merchants Union Express Co., 21¼.

Gold opened at 142⅞, and under heavy purchases, went up to 144¼, but closed at 4 p. m. at 143⅝. The rise brought out a large number of speculators for a rise, but the majority may believe in a further rise, yet, they are very timid, since the advance is not due to the effect of the President's amnesty proclamation, but the large sales of gold sold short at 141¼ to 141½. Government securities are a little lower to-day, though the market was very strong at the opening. Railroad shares were strong in the morning, but quotations yielded in the afternoon session of the board; abundance of money keeps up prices. Mining shares are a little off to-day, but steady in the average. Local stocks are offering at concessions. Money scarce.

The following statement exhibits the business of the Pittsburgh Clearing House, for the week ending Saturday, September 7th:

—The debt statement, which we have published, is regarded as extremely satisfactory. The short date obligations, which are most liable to cause embarrassments to the Treasury, are rapidly disappearing, 66 millions having been paid off during the month. Of the greenbacks four millions have been cancelled, and the coin-bearing debt has been increased 36 millions. The Government gold in the Treasury has fallen from 93 millions to 86 millions, confirming the statement that not only the customs receipts had been sold during the month, but several millions more from the balance reported August 1st. The currency balance has been reduced from 72 millions to 47 millions, and the probability is that a further reduction will take place. As to the coin balance it is not regarded as probable that further sales will at present take place to any considerable amount, for the balance belonging to the government is only 86 millions, and the payments during the next four months will amount to 63 millions, while the customs, receipts can scarcely exceed 40 millions. Of the 63 millions of coin payments above referred to the September interest on the 10-40s will require $4,750,000; the November interest on the 5-20s $24,250,000; the January interest on various bonds $20,000,000; and the redemption of the bonds of 1867 $7,000,000. Besides these sums the payments to Russia on account of the purchase of Aliaska, will amount to $7,200,000; and the diplomatic expenditure of the government to $200,000, giving a total of $63,400,000 to be paid in the four months expiring in January, 1868.

—The New York Post of Saturday says: The troubles in two national banks are discussed, but the suspended institutions are too small for their insolvency to attract any special notice. The action of the Comptroller of the Currency in closing up the Brooklyn bank on account of a deficiency in its reserve, is highly approved.

In the legal reserve of 15 per cent. on the banks in small towns and 25 per cent. in large central cities lies one of the most important safeguards of the national banking system, and these institutions must be compelled to comply fully with the requirements of the law in this respect.

The appointment yesterday of a receiver for the defaulting bank in Brooklyn is an admonition to all over-expanded banks throughout the country, and if any of them are delinquent on their reserve they will do well to heed the warning and to replenish their reserves of legal tender without delay. By the excision of the weak, rotten parts of our national banking system, and in the rigorous promptitude with which that excision is done—while the operation is possible and safe—while money is easy and no trouble threatens, we gain almost the only guaranty we can hope for at present that that system shall be found elastic and staple and strong in the spasms and panics and financial revulsions of the future. To be strong then our banks must make themselves strong now.

The fact became known to the commercial circles of this city yesterday that the First National Bank of Kingston, New York had lost a large amount by its president. The consequence was that last night about $8,000 of the bank's papear was thrown out in this city. To-day we have learned the following facts about the case: It appears that Mr. Hasbrouck, the president of the banks, was indebted to the institition to the amount of ninety-one or ninety-two thousand dollars. Mr. Hasbrouck has placed all of his property in the hands of the directors of the bank. He had borne a good character, and his friends cannot learn that he has lost any money by speculation. It is supposed that he must have gradually lived beyond his income, and thus became indebted to the bank. The officers of the institution have promptly made arrangements to redeem their outstanding paper, and this morning all of their notes held against the bank in this city were redeemed. The bank is solvent, but the stock will probably be slightly affected by the defalcation.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, September 9, 1866.

CRUDE—The market was again pretty active to-day, the sales in the aggregate being larger than those of Saturday, the decline at Antwerp to the contrary notwithstanding. The only perceptible influence exerted by the unfavorable character of the foreign advices was on spot oil, in which there was not a single transaction, and it is probable that a sale could not have been effected unless concessions had been made. For the later months, there was a very good demand at about last week's prices, mainly at 13¼c—the bulk of the sales were for March and April, 1868, at same figure. The reported sales were:

1000 bbls. all the year, seller.......... 12c
2000 " March and April, 1868, seller....... 13¼c
1500 " " " " " " 13¼c

REFINED—The decline in Antwerp caused the market to open very sluggishly this morning, but as the day wore on a little better feeling seemed to prevail, and upon the whole, there was a fair volume of business, though at a slight decline, compared with Saturday's prices. Private advices from Philadelphia, late in the day, reported a better feeling, and the report that Antwerp had declined to 51 francs was not confirmed, and it is possible that it was originated for the same purpose that the 60 franc report was gotten up for on Saturday—the one was a "bull" and the other a "bear." The reported sales to-day were as follows:

1000 bbls 500 each for Sept. and Oct...... 34c

RIVER NEWS.

The Yankton Dakotian says the Viola Belle played a sharp trick on the Sheriff at that place. A deck hand complained against the Captain for ill-treatment, and the Captain and boat were detained, the Sheriff remained on board all night. Toward morning he stepped off for a few moments, leaving a friend in charge. The friend was forcibly ejected and the boat put out.

The Dubuque Herald states that negotiations are on foot for the consolidation of the Atlantic, Mississippi and Northwestern Union Packet companies into a grand line from Saint Paul to New Orleans, passengers to change boats at St. Louis. Upon this the Madison Journal says: "This would be a grand scheme, and we don't know of any man who could better carry it on successfully than Capt. Davidson, who would control the line."

In the Circuit Court of Ohio county, Indiana, a jury under the ruling of the judge, in a case to recover wharfage, decided that where the public have used property bordering upon a navigable stream, such as the Ohio river, for twenty years or more, with the consent of the owners, for any for purpose, that constitutes a dedication to the public for that use, and the award was given to the defendants.

A NEW ROUTE.—We mentioned some days since the fact of a new route from Chicago to New Orleans having been opened through the enterprise of the managers of the St. Louis and Keokuk and the A. & M. S. S. Co.'s. In connection with the following from the Quincy Herald will be read with interest:

Ninety car loads of salt arrived yesterday from Chicago for St. Louis, via the river, making in all about eighteen thousand barrels received from Chicago at this point within the last week. It demonstrates the fact that this route is considered by Chicago shippers a very good one, and vastly superior to the Alton route. By this route freight is landed directly at the wharf in St. Louis, thus avoiding the inconvenience of handling it at East St. Louis and crossing over on the ferries; and, besides, the freight by the river route is landed in St. Louis in neater style and just as quick. The steamers Harry Johnson and Lucy Bertram are engaged in transporting the freight to St. Louis. The Harry and Lucy went down yesterday with full cargoes of salt.—Quincy Herald, August 31st.

ST. LOUIS, September 6.—The movements of the crops along the upper rivers, southward, have scarce begun yet. All the boats running above do not bring all that offers. A movement is on foot to operate a number of boats between this port and New Orleans, outside of the Atlantic line, beginning with the John Kilgour, T. L. McGill, and Stonewall—the two latter having come to the wharf yesterday, and the Kilgour is now loading to leave to-morrow. There are indications of the rates being low during this season, as at least three seperate interests are in the field. The Only Chance arrived at Benton, August 29th, with all her freight. She is the only boat that has made two trips to Benton, this year, from Saint Louis.

The Cincinnati Gazette, of Saturday, says: The Fire King arrived yesterday from Louisville, after an absence of two weeks. We find long accounts of her performances in the Louisville papers, all of which go to show that the interested people of Louisville are ready to pronounce her a success. Mr. Saxon will return to Louisville shortly, for the purpose of putting petroleum furnaces in the steamers Morning Star and Tarascon.

We extract the following items from the Louisville Democrat: Captain Crawford, U. S. special agent for the Treasury Department, has been in the city for several days. His head is about "level" on the locked-safety valve question. No boat is compelled to use more than one valve and it may be chosen by the engineer.

Capt. Saroni, the inventor of the petroleum burners, taught music in this city a few years ago. Louisville is coming out. Saroni and McCoole are Louisvillians.

Capt. Lockhart led captive to the Hymeneal alter, a few days ago, one of Louisville's handsomest daughters. He, with his fair bride, has gone on a tour to the East. We wish the happy couple joy, and a long lifetime of happiness.

The St. Paul Press makes this extraordinary statement, which we think is too long by 75 miles: The river men report the trip from St. Paul to Dunleith as one hundred miles longer than it was a few weeks ago, the steamers being compelled to follow more closely the main channel of the river.

THE WRECK OF THE MISSOURI.—The Evansville Journal says the wreckers are still at work on the Missouri, and are daily recovering something of value. A few days ago they recovered the kitchen range complete, except the top, for which they have been fishing and hunting. The wreck is now picked pretty clean, and the work of breaking up will soon begin.

The Memphis Avalanche, of the 5th, says: "Through this commercial darkness which has so long hung over Memphis a faint glimmering of light has at last appeared. General Boyd, of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, who is, by the way, one of the first railroad men of the Southwestern country, arrived in the city yesterday, for the purpose of interesting our people in the re-establishment of a tri-weekly or daily line of steamers between this city and New Orleans, to run in connection with the Memphis and Louisville Railroad. We are authorized to say that on these roads a very material reduction will be made on through freights from New Orleans, while the packets of this line will carry freights at a price that will render St. Louis competion almost impossible. The matter at present is merely in an embryo state, awaiting the action and encouragement of our mercantile community. The packets which are mentioned as being the first to enter the trade, are the Richmond, commanded by that sterling and thorough steamboatman, Stut Neal; the Indiana by his brother, Rube Neal, and the Heary Ames, by Frank Hicks.

The St. Louis Dispatch, of Friday, says: Capt. Marsh Grant has brought the low water packet Ida Stockdale to the levee and will load her for Omaha, leaving to-morrow evening.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE

RAILROAD,

THE WESTERN HALF OF THE

Great National Trunk Line Across the Continent,

Being constructed with the AID AND SUPERVISION OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT, is destined to be one of the MOST IMPORTANT AND VALUABLE RAILROADS IN THE WORLD, as it is the sole link of communication between the Pacific Coast and the Great Interior Basin, and the

The present western terminus is at Sacramento, on the navigable waters of the Pacific, but it will ultimately extend from San Francisco across the richest and most populous parts of California, Nevada and Utah, contiguous to all the great Mining Regions of the Far West. The Company are authorized to continue their line eastward until it shall meet and connect with the roads now building east of the Rocky Mountain ranges.

Assuming that they will build and control half the entire distance between San Francisco and the Missouri River, as now seems probable, the United States will have invested in the completion of 865 miles $28,592,000, or at the average rate of $35,000 per mile, not including an absolute grant of 10,000,000 acres of the Public Lands. By becoming a joint investor in the magnificent enterprise, and by waving its first lien in favor of the First Mortgage Bondholders, THE GENERAL GOVERNMENT, IN EFFECT, INVITES THE CO-OPERATION OF PRIVATE CAPITALISTS, and has carefully guarded their interests against all ordinary contingencies.

The Central Pacific Railroad enjoys all the privileges, grants, and subsidies conferred by the Acts of Congress upon the other parts of the through line, and has, in addition several special, exclusive advantages applicable only to the Western Half.

I. The Company has received from the State and chief cities of California, assistance in money, credit, and valuable property, worth over $3,000,000 in gold, in addition to the full benefit of the Government subsidy.

II. The hardest and costliest part of its construction has been successfully overcome within the first 150 miles. In a few weeks the track will be completed entirely across the Sierra Nevadas, after which progress to Salt Lake will be easy and rapid.

III. The local business alone of this road establishes its complete financial success, independently of the vast through traffic which must pass over it. The gross earnings for the months of June and July, upon the 94 miles then open for business, were upward of $207,000 in gold; of which four-fifths were net earnings.

IV. It can have no competition, but will carry, beside its own lucrative local traffic, the whole volume of through business which is shared among its Eastern connections and their branches.

V. The road lies wholly in territory yielding the precious metals, and its revenues are collected in coin. Its rates for transportation are very advantageous, being more than three times those of roads lying east of it; and the ratio of operating expenses is less than 25 per cent. of the gross earnings.

VI. In consequence of the aid it receives from the General Government, from the State of California, and from municipal corporations, the annual interest obligations which the Company are called upon to assume are very light. The net earnings upon an average of about 75 miles, in 1866, were nearly three times the amount of annual interest liabilities to be assumed in building it, and were $235,000 more than the annual interest on the entire amount of First Mortgage Bonds which the Company can issue upon the first 150 miles.

The Company offer for sale, through us, their

First Mortgage Thirty Year, Six per cent. Coupon Bonds,

Principal and Interest payable in Gold Coin, in New York city. They are in sums of $1,000 each, with semi-annual gold coupons attached, and are selling for the present at 95 per cent. and accrued interest from July 1st added, in currency, at which rate they yield nearly Nine per cent. upon the Investment.

These Bonds, authorized by Act of Congress, are issued only as the work progresses, and to the same amount only as the bonds granted by the Government; and represent, in all cases, the first lien upon a completed, equipped, and productive railroad, in which have been invested Government subsidies, stock subscriptions, donations, surplus earnings, etc., and which is worth more than three times the amount of First Mortgage Bonds which can be issued upon it.

The agreement of this Company to pay principal and interest of their Bonds in coin, being made under the Specie Contract Law of California, authorizing and enforcing contracts to pay gold, is legally binding, unlike similar agreements made by companies in States where no such legislative sanction exists.

In these important particulars the Securities of the Central Pacific Company offer an unusual degree of stability and profit combined.

THE FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OF THIS COMPANY are destined to occupy a prominent place among FIRST CLASS SECURITIES in the money markets of this country and Europe, and will, without doubt, be eagerly sought for, and anxiously dealt in hereafter, at rates materially in advance of the price at which they are now offered.

Having carefully investigated the resources, progress and prospects of the road, and the management of the Company's affairs, we cordially recommend these Bonds to Trustees, Executors, Institutions, and others, as an eminently sound, reliable and remunerative form of permanent investment.

MEDICAL.

CONSUMPTION!

It would take a man a lifetime to read the treatises that have been written upon this important subject, and if a sick man were to attempt it he would make himself worse by the reading, and die before he got half through. The symptoms of the disease are, hacking cough, expectoration of matter or pus, pain in one or both lungs, chilliness, burning in the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, exhausting day of night sweats, hectic fever, wasting of flesh or marasmus, sometimes expectoration of blood. These are the usual outward symptoms, apparent not only to the observing physician, but to the patient's friends. There are, however, more important symptoms than these, which are only made manifest by auscultation and percussion, terms which mean, in a medical sense, thumping and listening and they are employed outwardly in order to ascertain what is going on inside of the cavity of the chest. The signs of symptoms elicited in this way are almost surely demonstrate the true and exact condition of th respiratory organs. A perfect auscultator can not fail in ascertaining whether the Lungs are acting naturally or not. Hence it is the best method of examining the lungs. Their actual condition once discovered, the appropriate treatment is more rapidly arrived at, and every diseased part more completely under the influence of appropriate remedies. We have long been of the opinion that consumption or decay, or wasting of the bodily strength, was dependent on a depraved state of the blood, which carries, in its course, tuberculous matter, and deposits it in the lungs, or elsewhere in the body, just as calculi or stone is deposited in the bladder, a small particle of which attracts other particles, until it becomes of such offense to the natural functions as to bring on inflammatory action, which action, if it could, would carry it out of the system, and which could have been easily done in the beginning of such disease. DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP is a complete and perfect cure in the forming stage of lung disease. It acts on the very principle we have stated above, by enabling the securing or carrying off organs to do a double share of work Waste and repair are easily comprehended if the worn out material be carried off, and renewing material a proper character, the must be health and ease, the contrary of sickness and dis-ease. In many cases of consumption which have become settled, Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup fails to cure, although it will do good in nearly all. He prepares a medicine called LUNG CURE or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE, which is a great tonic, and strengtnens and restores the parts to be renewed, while it dissolves and carries out from the body those particles of worn out or extraneous matter, which only tend to clog or destroy it, by hindering the renewing material being deposited in proper place.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there a called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, an having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER, and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper lobe of my left lung was very much diseased. Yet he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I could gradually feel myself getting stronger, and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by Dr. Keyser was a medicine called LUNG CURE, which I took in connection with the other treatment.

GEORGE FORD

PITTSBURGH, March 30, 1867.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

STATEMENT OF JOHN G. WIGHAM, OF TURTLE CREEK, ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

I was discharged from the United States army January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough and fell away in strength and flesh and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood and, afterwards, to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DOCTOR KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under Dr. Keyser's medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunken away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment and medicines.

JOHN G. WIGHAM,
Turtle Creek.

PITTSBURGH, April 11th, 1867.

A case of five years' standing cured by DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP:

DR. KEYSER:—My wife has been afflicted with a cough and difficulty of breathing for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case I procured some of your PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP. I bought the first time a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine myself to a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

WM. WILSON,
Alderman, Fifth Ward.

Our son, JAMES PAINTER, some three years of age was afflicted with consumption of the lungs, for which he was discharged from the army. He was examined by four army physicians, who all agreed that he must die with the disease. We brought him to Dr. KEYSER, 140 Wood street, (now 120 Penn street,) who, after sounding his lungs, commenced to treat him, and cured him sound and well. He is now well and has been so for the past three years. Others afflicted in like manner can likewise be cured.
